Inadequate Parking Signage on Neches between 6th & 7th Streets

In November of 2010, at the request of the Austin Police Department, the Austin Transportation Department installed a "Law Enforcement Zone" on the east curb of the 600 block of Neches, from the alley up to East 7th. Signs indicating the Law Enforcement Zone were installed at either end of the zone and below the PlayStation flag sign. In 2012, APD informed us they were no longer using the zone and that the signs could be removed. Shortly after sign removal, APD decided they still needed to use the space and the signs were re-installed ASAP.

During the sign re-installation, the middle sign was not replaced. APD asked us to re-install the middle sign and a work order was sent to the Signs and Marking Department on 12/21/2012.
