Here are figures associated with your data requests.

1. How many people live within the City of Austin and also within Williamson County? Our own in-house estimate puts this figure at 44,834 as of April 1, 2013. Census 2010 counted 35,697 people as of April 1, 2010. We believe that new households have been drawn to the housing being built within the area and that this growth will continue into the future. Population and employment growth should accelerate as sections of Robinson Ranch are developed.
2. How many people live within the City of Austin and also within the Round Rock ISD? Census 2010 counted 63,927 people within this territory as of April 1, 2010. Although no official post-census estimate exists for this specific area, the total population has more than likely grown since Census 2010 was taken.
