PROPOSAL

Demolish a ca. 1939 garage apartment.

ARCHITECTURE

Two-story, rectangular-plan, hipped roof frame garage apartment with two open garage bays on the left side of the lower story, a front-gabled entry hood; single and paired 1:1 fenestration with 3:1 wood screens; synthetic siding.

RESEARCH

The garage apartment was built in 1938-39 by Grace Grist, the widow of John Grist, superintendent of the Steck Company, a large commercial printing company which also handled office furniture and office supplies at 9th and Lavaca Streets. John and Grace Grist bought the Red River Street property around 1933. John Grist died in 1936; Grace Grist lived in the now-demolished house at 4306 Red River Street until her death in 1949. Her tenants in the garage apartment ranged from a mail carrier to the plant supervisor at an ice cream company. The house at 4306 Red River was then owned by Edward F. and May Barnes; he was the proprietor of a hardware store. Tenants of the garage apartment since that time have included teachers and students, with a high turnover in residents.

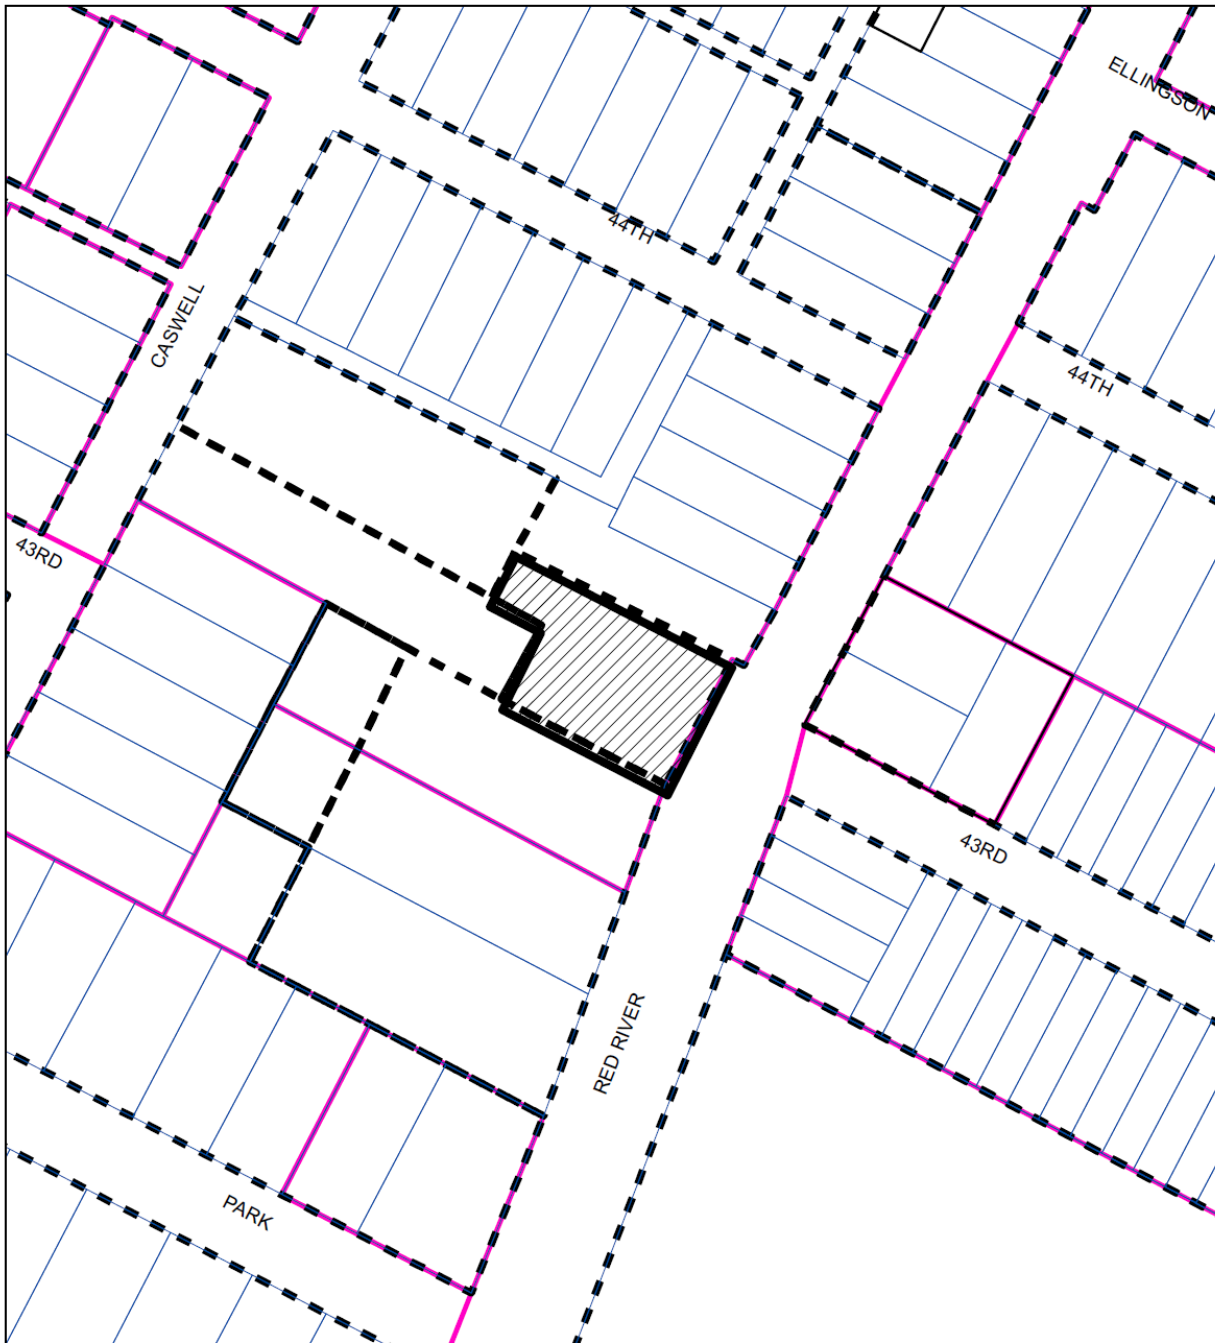

STAFF COMMENTS

The garage apartment does not appear in any City survey.

STAFF RECOMMENDATION

Encourage relocation over demolition, but release the permit. The garage apartment does not qualify for individual designation as a historic landmark and has neither the architectural nor historical interest to justify completion of a documentation package.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTES

Grace Grist (owner and builder), ca. 1939 – ca. 1949

The 1940 U.S. Census shows Grace Grist as the owner of the now-demolished house at 4306 Red River Street. Grace Grist was then a 52-year old Kansas-born widow with no occupation listed. She lived in the house with her son, Harold, 21, who had been born in Texas, and was an estimator for a printing company. Listed as renters at the same address were Robert and Estelle Mills, with their daughter, Mary Jane. Robert Mills was a 30-year old Texas-born butcher in a retail grocery store; Estelle was 31, had been born in Texas, and had no occupation listed. Mary Jane was 2. The family had lived in Thorndale, Texas in 1935. Listed in a rental unit at the rear of the property were Arthur and Hertha Kleen. Arthur Kleen was then 39, had been born in Texas, and was the owner of an electrical company. Hertha Kleen was then 34, had been born in Texas, and was a stenographer for a retail merchants' association.

The 1930 U.S. Census shows John and Grace Grist as the owners of the house at 1012 Shelley Avenue; he was a 43-year old Texas-born superintendent of a printing company; city directories confirm that his position at the Steck Company, which handled commercial printing, office furniture, and office supplies.
