

Dear Sir/Madame:

While the second draft is better than the first, it still divides West Austin into two districts. Brykerwoods, Pemberton, and Old Enfield together are the largest National Register Historic District in the state and should be kept together, along with Tarrytown, and, possibly, Old West Austin (area bounded by Lamar, the river, MoPac, and 12th Street), another historic district. Neighborhoods south of the river should not be combined with those north of the river.

Please group our historic neighborhoods together in one district when making the next revision.

Sincerely,

John Volz, AIA
