FEBRUARY 23, 2015
DEMOLITION AND RELOCATION PERMITS
HDP-2015-0088
904 E. 2ND STREET

PROPOSAL

---

Demolish a ca. 1904 house.

ARCHITECTURE

---

One-story, wing-and-gable plan frame house with a partial-width shed-roofed independent porch on ornamental metal posts; single 1:1 non-historic vinyl windows; synthetic siding, including permastone at the principal entry.

RESEARCH

The house appears to have been built around 1904; it does not appear on the 1900 Sanborn map. The first occupants of the house were John T. and Molly Rogers, who lived here until around 1909. John T. Rogers was a Missouri-born evangelist; the city directories list him as an elder in the Church of Christ. Earlier census reports show that John Rogers had previously been a farmer in Milam County, Texas.

Milton and Mathilde Vardell lived here from around 1909 to 1911. He was an Alabama-born woodworker in a blacksmith shop; his son, Patrick, was a carpet layer for Scarbrough & Hicks, the predecessor to E.M. Scarbrough & Sons, the city's most prominent department store of the early 20th century.

The house then had a series of renters through the 1910s and 1920s, including Alex W. and Margaret Hamby, who lived here in the late 1920s. He was an ice dealer. Around 1930, the house purchased by John A. and Marie Innes, who lived here until around 1946. John A. Innes was a butcher; in the mid-1930s, they rented out a portion of the house; their tenants included a cement finisher, and attendants at Austin State Hospital.

Littlepage and Desta May Copeland owned and occupied the house in the late 1940s and early 1950s; he was a mail carrier for the Post Office. Around 1953, the house was purchased by Ricardo Guerrero, whose family lived here until the early 1980s. Ricardo Guerrero was a Mexican-born machinist at Austin Auto Supply; his son Ricardo also worked at Austin Auto Supply, and another son, Julian, who lived here in the 1970s, worked at Glastron Boat Company, Austin Auto Supply, and then at Texas Instruments. The house has been a rental property since the 1980s.

STAFF COMMENTS

The house does not appear in any City survey.

STAFF RECOMMENDATION

Encourage the applicant to reconsider rehabilitation and re-use of this house, which is located on a relatively intact block on E. 2nd Street. The house has had some major modifications, which would generally disqualify it for landmark designation, but has a long history reflecting the history and architecture of this part of East Austin, and every effort to rehabilitate the house and return it to its historic appearance should be entertained prior to demolishing the structure. If the house cannot be rehabilitated, then staff recommends release of the permit upon completion of a City of Austin Documentation Package, consisting of photographs of all elevations, a dimensioned sketch plan, and a narrative history, for archiving at the Austin History Center.
