ADA Self-Assessment & System-Wide Transition Plan Request For Proposal - Briefing Concessions and Contracts Committee

March 10, 2015

Need for Plan

- As a Title II public agency*, PARD is required by federal and state laws to provide facilities and services that are accessible to park patrons.
- ADA law requires that public agencies conduct a Self-Assessment to quantify accessibility shortcomings, and then prepare a long-term implementation program, the Transition Plan.
- PARD's existing Transition Plan is 15 years old and was part of a comprehensive COA initiative.

Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 prohibits discrimination on the basis of disability by public entities.

Scope of Work Highlights

- Proposers are required to submit a plan that includes:
 - A community engagement plan with a minimum of three public forums
 - Monthly progress reports with photo documentation, cost reference, and inventory priorities
 - Orientation sessions of ADA Self-Assessment for each District PARD staff and division staff specific to that district
 - Final Transition Plan with inventory assessment data, methods, and timeframes for addressing access and inventory priorities
 - Presentations of final plans to PARD Executive and Leadership Team and to City Council
