

HISTORIC LANDMARK COMMISSION
JUNE 22, 2015
DEMOLITION AND RELOCATION PERMITS
HDP-2015-0409
702 JESSIE STREET

PROPOSAL

---

Demolish a ca. 1951 house.

ARCHITECTURE

---

One-story, rectangular-plan, stone-veneered frame house with a partial-width, shed-roofed, independent porch on ornamental metal posts; combination of 2:2 horizontally-configured sash windows and multi-light casement windows, with a fixed-sash picture window in the front flanked by multi-light casements; attached 2-bay frame garage.

RESEARCH

---

The house was built in 1951 by Cecil and Hazel Lock, who lived here until around 1991. Cecil Lock was a city firefighter, who worked his way up to the position of captain the fire department. He was the son of Tony Lock, a prominent deputy in Austin for many years. Hazel Lock worked as a clerk at the telephone company.

STAFF COMMENTS

---

The house does not appear in any City survey.

STAFF RECOMMENDATION

---

Encourage adaptive re-use and rehabilitation of the house, as it is a nice example of a post-war ranch house in this South Austin neighborhood. While the house does not have the requisite architectural nor historical significance to warrant individual landmark designation, it is representative of its era of building and the style of the neighborhood, and every consideration should be given to preserving and re-using this house. If the Commission votes to release the permit, then staff recommends completion of a City of Austin Documentation Package, consisting of photographs of all elevations, a dimensioned sketch plan, and a narrative history, for archiving at the Austin History Center.
