Hi Leane,

Nice talking to you on the phone a little while ago :)

I'm writing to object the setback variance request at 2805 Rivercrest due to increased flooding risk to the surrounding lots. Our home flooded in 2013. This is not something we ever want to experience again.

2805 Rivercrest is at the bottom of a steep hill and has serious flooding concerns. Recent excavation appears to have cut open the ground water table, which increased water flow and created an even steeper grade. (see attached photo) Running water over the street increases flood risk to 2806, 2808 & 2900. Running water through the street drain increases flood risk to 2902 and 2900.

A variance to enable more land to be covered with a building would result in more water running through 2805 to the surrounding properties.

I plan to attend the hearing also. Thank you!

Justin Jensen

Hi all,

I spoke with Leana Heldenfels at the City, who kindly told me this case should be heard between 9:30-11:00 PM and to be there by 9:00. She also said you can email your position before noon (in a few minutes).

Daniel,

I look forward to meeting you tonight, and I hope you can work out the drainage on your lot and are able to build the perfect home for your family there :)

Leane,

I am writing about the case C15-2015-0146. We live across the street at 2902 Rivercrest. I wanted the City to be aware that the site has been excavated at least 3 times without a permit. In fact I don't believe that without the repeated illegal excavations that ANY building would have been possible.

I have pictures of two of the events. This one below is from August 2011. We are opposed to the granting of any variances on the setback. This lot floods with every heavy rainfall. The entire hillside drains at 2805 Rivercrest. You can see how flooding and rainfall has arranged the rocks on the hillside of this lot. Changing the setback and building on this lot will cause additional floodwaters to be diverted to the existing homes around this property.

Sincerely,
Ann Roe

Leanne,

Here is another photo from October 8, 2014. The owners used heavy equipment to remove a large section of the hillside. When I contacted the county and the city I was told they did not have a permit and the operation was shut down but not until most of the hillside had been removed. The owners also removed a large older pecan from the property using the heavy machinery without a permit.

While I have these photos taken from the street, Google Earth should be able to show the excavation work done from year to year on the property. This property had a much smaller flat section before the excavation was repeatedly done on the hillside.

I am planning on being at the hearing tonight.

Thanks,
Ann Roe
