PROPOSAL

Demolish a ca. 1940 house.

RESEARCH

The house was built in 1940 by Clark Petet; he and his wife Erin lived here until the late 1950s. Clark Petet was a native of Memphis, Tennessee; he moved to Austin with his family before 1930. His father, Charles F. Petet was the secretary of the State Railroad Commission. Clark Petet was a salesman for a garage at that point, but soon became involved in work for the Scottish Rite bodies in Austin. He served as the recorder for the Ben Hur Temple Shrine, and while living in this house, was the assistant secretary for the Scottish Rite bodies. He later served as the recorder for the Hella Temple Shrine, and in his later years, he moved to Dallas, where he passed away in 1992. The house was then owned by a widow, Florence McDonald, until around 1970, then a rental property until it was purchased by R. Frank Davis and his wife, around 1980.

ARCHITECTURE

---

One-story, wing-and-gable plan, stone-veneered cottage with a shed-roofed entry hood; metal-framed casement windows.

STAFF COMMENTS

---

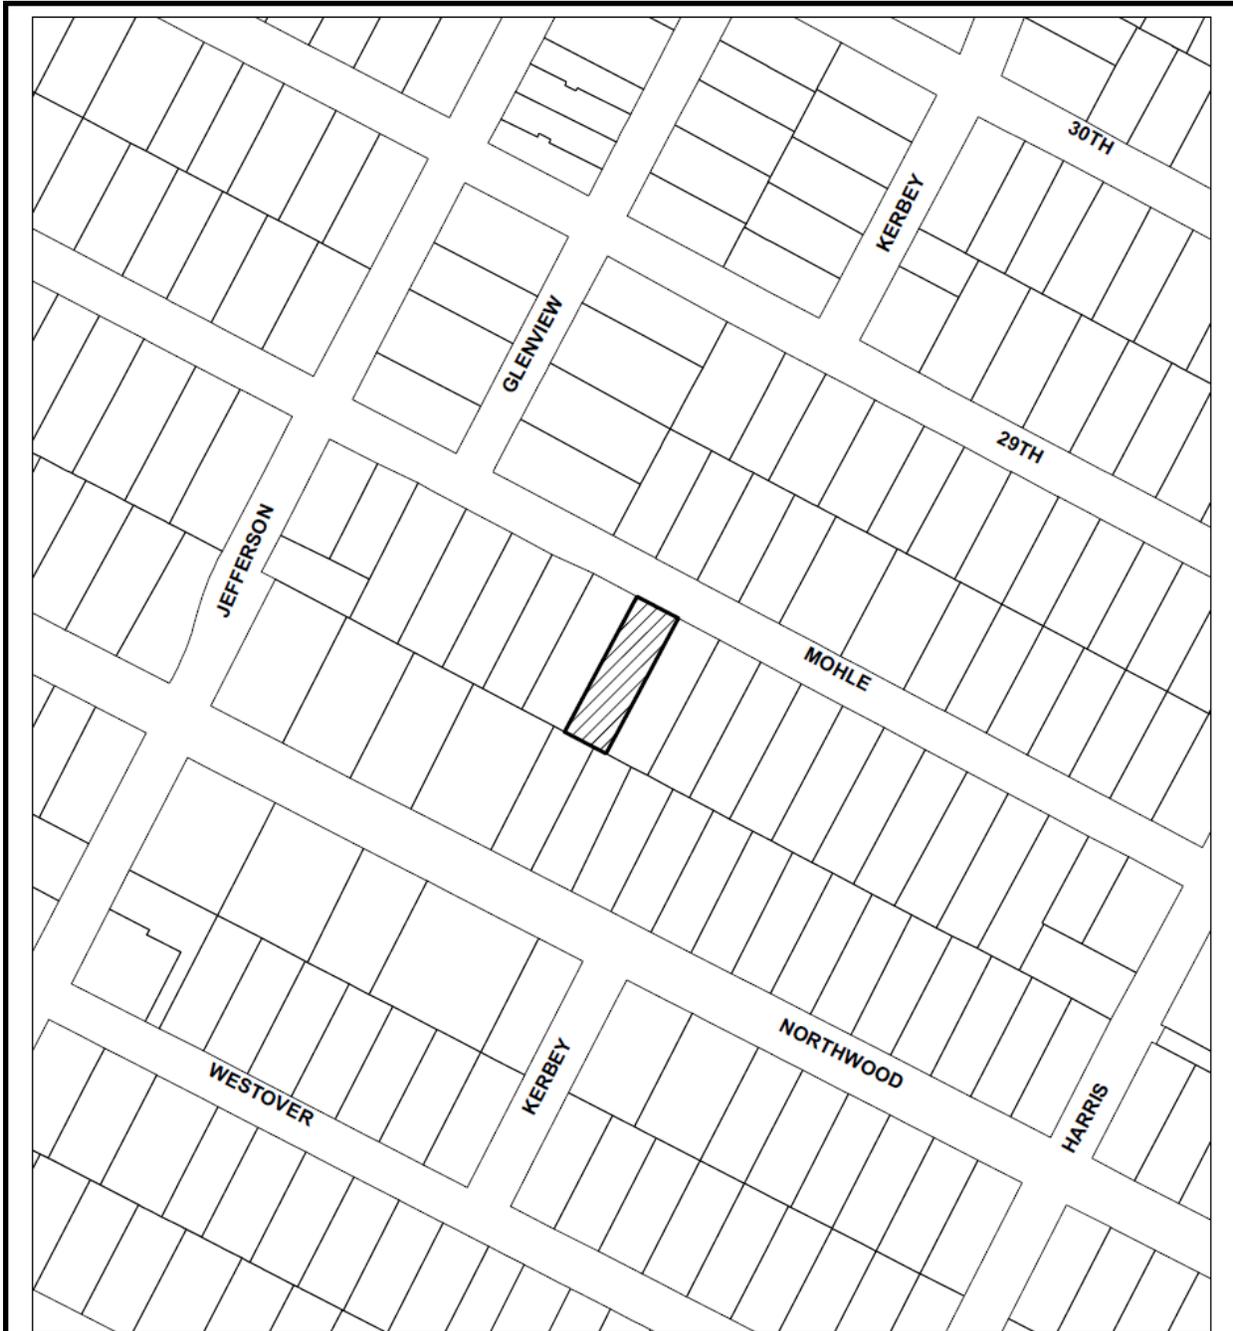

The house is contributing to the Old West Austin National Register Historic District.

STAFF RECOMMENDATION

---

Release the permit upon the Commission's review of the plans for the new construction proposed for this site, and upon completion of a City of Austin Documentation Package, consisting of photographs of all elevations, a dimensioned sketch plan, and a narrative history, for archiving at the Austin History Center. While the house is contributing to the National Register Historic District, it lacks the requisite architectural and historical significance to warrant individual designation as a historic landmark.
