RE: Board of Adjustment, 1814, 1816, 1820 Kenwood Avenue

Members of the Board,

This firm represents the Owner of the property for the above referenced addresses located in the Travis Heights Neighborhood. The properties subject to this case consist of lots 7, 8, 9, 10 of Block 34 of the Travis Heights Subdivision, recorded in recorded in 1913. These 4 lots have only ever been developed as 3 single-family homes, each with a rear accessory structure.

While the properties have always existed in the configuration of 4 lots, according to deed history, ownership lines have not followed the plat lines since 1930 when the first house and accessory structure was built straddling two of the lots, now known as 1816 Kenwood Avenue. Similarly, 1820 Kenwood Avenue was built in 1947 straddling two lots. Improvements at 1814 Kenwood Avenue were built in 1950. The ownership lines of the three addresses have existed in this configuration, built atop lot lines and with accessory structures located in the present-day building setback areas.

The scenario is unique in that ownership and construction typically follows lot lines. Memorializing the ownership lines of the properties requires an amended plat to create 3 lots from the long standing, 4-lot configuration. However, the accessory structures challenge the approval of the amended plat since they are located within the rear and side-yard setbacks. Without an amended plat, future ownership transactions will be encumbered for these properties.

A successful variance to the rear and side-yard setbacks will allow the accessory structures to be maintained in the original, historic configuration on the lots with the amended plat.

We respectfully request a favorable review by the Board of Adjustment to allow for a variance in this scenario. Doing so will help maintain the character that the Travis Heights Neighborhood has known for decades.

Should you have any questions or need additional information, please contact me at my office.

Sincerely,
