PROPOSAL

---

Demolish a ca. 1949 house.

ARCHITECTURE

---

One-story, rectangular-plan, front-gabled frame house with a front-gabled, partial-width independent porch offset to the right on the façade; single 6:6 fenestration.

RESEARCH

---

The house was built in 1949 by Juan Davila, who was a butcher. Juan and his wife, Concepcion, lived here until around 1955. The house was then purchased by Frank and Mary B. Moreno, who lived here until around 1975, although it appears that the house stayed in the family for longer than that – Robert Moreno, one of Frank and Mary Moreno’s sons, was listed as the renter of the house in the 1981 directory.

STAFF COMMENTS

The house was not listed in the Comprehensive Cultural Resources Survey (1984). The Est Austin Historic Resources Survey (2016) shows that house as ca. 1951, with a recommendation that the house is not eligible for a local nor a National Register designation.

The house does not meet the criteria for landmark designation as set forth in City Code:

- a. Architecture. The house is a frame late 1940s bungalow, a common style. The house has no architectural distinction within its architectural style.
- b. Historical association. There do not appear to be any significant historical associations.
- c. Archaeology. The house was not evaluated for its potential to yield significant data concerning the human history or prehistory of the region.
- d. Community value. The house does not possess a unique location, physical characteristic, or significant feature that contributes to the character, image, or cultural identity of the city, the neighborhood, or a particular demographic group.
- e. Landscape feature. The property is not a significant natural or designed landscape with artistic, aesthetic, cultural, or historical value to the city.

STAFF RECOMMENDATION

Encourage rehabilitation and adaptive re-use, then relocation over demolition, but release the permit upon completion of a City of Austin Documentation Package.
