Additional Backup Information:

"Automatic Aid" is an agreement between jurisdictions to automatically dispatch the nearest available unit(s) to mitigate an emergency situation. These Agreements are based on the fire departments' collective desire to:

1. reduce response times to emergency incidents (structure fires and medical emergencies);
2. standardize procedures used by firefighters from different agencies working together;
3. improve ISO ratings that can lower insurance costs; and
4. increase the interoperability of equipment used by partner agencies.

Since February 2013, the Austin Fire Department has had Automatic Aid with Travis County ESDs. Over the last year, the Travis County Fire Chiefs have been meeting with Williamson County Fire Chiefs from the Cedar Park, Round Rock, Leander, Georgetown, Hutto, Sam Bass and Jollyville Fire Departments. The Fire Chiefs from both Counties believe that continuation and expansion of Automatic Aid significantly improves the delivery of services to City and County residents, especially those living in neighborhoods along jurisdictional boundaries.
