HIGHLIGHTS

Austin Public Library Named as a Top 10 Innovator by Urban Libraries Council

The Urban Libraries Council announced Austin Public Library as one of 10 Top Innovators during the 2019 Innovations Celebration held on October 17 in Salt Lake City. The annual Innovations award program recognizes leading practices from ULC's member library systems across the U.S. and Canada. A panel of expert judges selected Austin Public Library's Welding Class from 260 submissions in 10 categories that showcase out-of-the box thinking and creative applications of library resources. Austin Public Library won in the category of Education - Adults. Award winners were recognized for their level of creativity, ability for other libraries to adapt their work and the outcomes achieved.

Austin Public Library partnered with Austin Community College (ACC) to bring vocational educational opportunities to one of its most underserved communities by offering ACC's Welding Class that allows students to receive a Welding Certification. A generator-powered mobile education pod was brought on site to the Southeast Branch Library. Due to its mobility the classroom can be brought to students rather than the other way around. Having the classroom in one's neighborhood made it easier to arrange for child care since the 'college' may be only blocks away from home.

Exhibits

Megan Bent: LATENCY Megan uses photography to explore living with invisible disability. Outwardly she is perceived as healthy but inside her immune system is actively breaking her body down. This experience, while hidden, is one that has greatly shaped who she is. With the process of chlorophyll printing, which uses UV light to print images directly onto leaves, she is printing medical imagery from her recurring doctors visits. She is also printing images shared with her from within the disability community, highlighting their unseen experiences. She is printing on leaves to underscore the organic nature of disability while asking the viewer to confront the bodily impermanence we all share. Megan Bent is a New England based artist. She specializes in alternative process photography, specifically the process of chlorophyll printing. Her artwork has been exhibited widely across the United States in exhibitions at the Rayko Photo Center, San Francisco, The Vera Project, Seattle, WA, The East Hawaiian Cultural Center/HMOCA , Hilo, Hawai'i, Flux Factory, Long Island City, NY, El Museo Cultural, Santa Fe, NM, and the Piedmont Council for the Arts, Charlottesville, VA. Central Library Gallery through December 28.

Polish Poster Art: From City Streets to Gallery Walls. Polish posters offered subtle symbolism during a post-war era of repressive government. Art posters were not censored as they were not expected to pose threats to social order. The colorful posters played a significant role in modern visual design and culture before the emergence of commercialized movie posters. Central Library 6th Floor through December 31.

STAFFING UPDATE

We are pleased to announce that we have three new Branch Managers at the Austin Public Library.

Michelle Beebower has accepted the position of Managing Librarian at the Twin Oaks branch. Michelle has been with APL for 14 years, serving as a youth materials selector, youth librarian, and most recently as the assistant manager of the Twin Oaks Branch. She holds a B.A. in Sociology and an MLS, both from the University of Texas-Austin. Michelle has a strong interest in innovative adult programming. She will begin her tenure on November 10, 2019.

Ruby Robinson has accepted the position of Managing Librarian at the Willie Mae Kirk Branch. Ruby has been an assistant manager and library manager with Houston Public Library. She has also worked as a youth librarian with Harris County Public Library. She holds a BA in Criminology from the University of Texas-Arlington and an MLS from the University of North Texas. She has a strong passion for programming and is especially interested in bringing library services to traditionally underserved communities. She will begin the week of December 8, 2019.

Nichole Chagnon has been named Managing Librarian at the St. John branch. Nichole brings a wealth of experience both in public and academic libraries. She has worked as a teen services librarian with APL and is currently a faculty librarian with Austin Community College. Nichole earned her BS in Radio-Television-Film and an MLS both from University of Texas at Austin. Her start date is November 24, 2019.

LIBRARY PRIORITIES

Literacy Advancement

The Library Foundation's Badgerdog Creative Writing Summer Campers officially became published authors with the launch of their 2019 anthologies Rise and Emerge! On October 5, the young writers came together to share their work on stage at the Central Library.

Digital Inclusion & STEM

Branch libraries recognized Digital Inclusion Week (October 7 through October 11) with some diverse offerings:

- Latinitas, a local nonprofit organization aimed at empowering young Latinas, hosted a Virtual Reality program at Southeast branch;
- Milwood had a class on Agile Project Management;
- Drop in Digital Assistance was offered at Old Quarry; And St John offered iPad Basics for Seniors

At Central, Adrian Perez (Sight and Sound Team) brought two tech activities for the tweens to take turns using: virtual reality and 3D scanning and printing! The tweens were able to create a pumpkin using VR equipment and our volunteer Tammi 3D scanned their faces. Adrian will 3D print their scanned faces and the tweens can pick them up in the next few weeks.

Turning Teens into Game Developers is a weekly program offered in the teen center at Central. We have lots of returning students each week and they are all staying for 4-5 hours on average, which is a huge time commitment for busy teens. A new teen to the group was really excited to build an app, and so she's become our first student pursuing app building instead of game making.

Equity, Diversity & Inclusion

On October 17, Austin-Travis County EMS hosted at Pop Up Resource Clinic at Little Walnut Creek Branch. The Mobile Med Clinic, MAP, mental health assistance, coordinated assessments, and substance abuse assistance were available at this resource fair in the parking lot.

Dia de los Muertos events included painting sugar skulls on mini canvases, Featured Flicks with movies and crafts, and a Dia de los Muertos celebration at Spicewood Springs. One especially noteworthy Dia activity at Old Quarry brought together seniors from nearby Brookdale Senior Living Center with preschoolers from My Friend's House. Together they worked on Dia de los Muertos crafts and heard a story by Miss Ambray!

Civic and Community Engagement

Library Journal's Design Institute was hosted in Austin on October 11, and the participants toured the facilities at Southeast, Twin Oaks, and the newly remodeled Hampton branch at Oak Hill.

Halloween was celebrated in high style across the branches. Programs included:

- Yarn pumpkin craft at Southeast, in partnership with the Parks Departments
- Customers at Twin Oaks made ghost bubbles at Science Friday
- Cepeda hosted storyteller Rick Davis
- Ruiz celebrated with a large Halloween Bazaar for the family, complete with crafts and even Tarot card reading for the adults
- Milwood hosted their 2nd Annual Halloween Party and is becoming a local trick-or-treat spot
- Little Walnut Creek joined in on the trick-or-treating as well, as they joined the READ Fall Fest
- Families played a giant Candyland game at their Candyland Halloween Party

Competing against countless local Halloween events, APL After Dark still drew over 300 people into the Central Library on a Friday night. Halloween costumes were rampant, and every presenter (we had experts in palmistry, ghost hunting, tarot, ufology, spiritualism, and spooky makeup) was actively engaged in conversations with customers the entire evening. We also had a ghost story open-mic around the (LED) campfire that was very well received. Our spooky VR experiences were incredibly popular.

Outreach Storytime at First United Methodist Pre-K. A Central youth librarian visits this preschool quarterly to provide a storytime with books, flannels, ukulele playing, songs, and a snail puppet named Moose. The kids laughed hysterically when Moose struggled to get musical instruments out of the storytime bag. This week we read Pokko and the Drum, Dini Dinosaur, and Ten Pigs.

Staff Development

Mock Printz Discussion. The Michael L. Printz Award is an American Library Association literary award that annually recognizes the best book written for teens, based entirely on its literary merit.

The Austin Public Library Literature Committee will host the "11th Annual Mock Printz Discussion" for staff on Friday, January 24, 2020. The discussion will be based on the Printz criteria as we review ten pre-selected titles. Attendees will vote for finalists and ultimately a winner.

Workforce and Economic Development

Eleven entrepreneurs attended a small business workshop at Central, led by marketing guru Jenn Denham, to learn how to develop effective social media marketing strategies to bring their businesses into the social spotlight.
