

On Jan 14, 2020, at 9:46 AM, Kristen Heaney <kristen.e.heaney@gmail.com> wrote:

January 13, 2020

Andrew Rivera

City of Austin

Planning and Zoning Department

Via E-mail: andrewrivera@austintexas.gov

RE: 1705 Haskell Street Austin, TX 78702 - La Casa Rendon

Dear Mr. Rivera,

I'm writing on behalf of the East Cesar Chavez Neighborhood Plan Contact team to share our support for the historical designation request for the single family residence at 1705 Haskell Street, also known as La Casa Rendon.

As you know, Edward Rendon, the long-time resident and owner was a civic activist and stone mason who did the stonework on the home. An uncounted number of neighborhood meetings took place at the house addressing the needs, concerns, and interests of East Austin residents. Edward Rendon Park on Lake Ladybird is named after him. And this is just a brief recollection that scratches the surface of a life lived in service of the East Austin community.

It is critically important that the history of our neighborhood, it's stories and it's people are preserved and shared especially at a time when development is rapidly changing the face of East Austin.

We hope that you join us in support of Historic Designation for La Casa Rendon.

Sincerely,

Susan Benz

Chair

East Cesar Chavez Neighborhood Planning Team

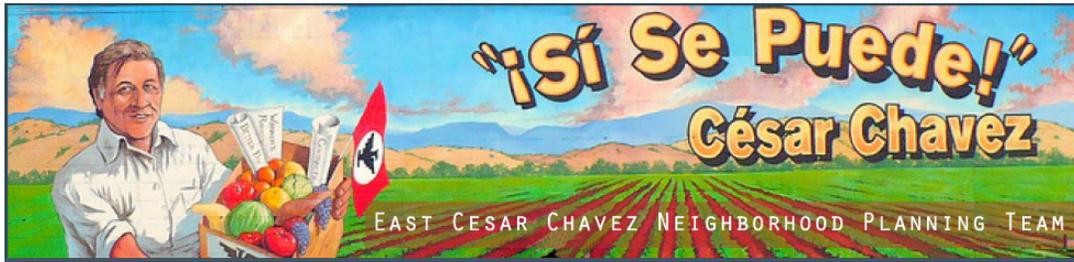

CC:

Hon. Mayor and Council of the City of Austin via e-mail

ECCNPT via e-mail

Planning and Zoning Department via e-mail

Bertha Rendon Delgado via e-mail

January 13, 2020

Andrew Rivera
City of Austin
Planning and Zoning Department
Via E-mail: andrewrivera@austintexas.gov

RE: 1705 Haskell Street Austin, TX 78702 - La Casa Rendon

Dear Mr. Rivera,

I'm writing on behalf of the East Cesar Chavez Neighborhood Plan Contact team to share our support for the historical designation request for the single family residence at 1705 Haskell Street, also known as La Casa Rendon.

As you know, Edward Rendon, the long-time resident and owner was a civic activist and stone mason who did the stonework on the home. An uncounted number of neighborhood meetings took place at the house addressing the needs, concerns, and interests of East Austin residents. Edward Rendon Park on Lake Ladybird is named after him. And this is just a brief recollection that scratches the surface of a life lived in service of the East Austin community.

It is critically important that the history of our neighborhood, it's stories and it's people are preserved and shared especially at a time when development is rapidly changing the face of East Austin.

We hope that you join us in support of Historic Designation for La Casa Rendon.

Sincerely,

Susan Benz

Susan Benz
Chair
East Cesar Chavez Neighborhood Planning Team
CC: Hon. Mayor and Council of the City of Austin via e-mail
ECCNPT via e-mail
Planning and Zoning Department via e-mail