Asian American Quality of Life Advisory Commission	Mental Health	There is an increasing need for culturally and linguistically sensitive physical and mental health services to immigrants and Asian Americans. Funding from the City can help patients gain access to safety net services to augment the medical services they receive. We have seen how the limited funding currently available has impacted the lives of Asian Americans, immigrants and refugees. We know that individuals from these communities are more successful if they can access services that are sensitive to their culture and language needs. We propose additional funding for this program in the amount of $100,000 to increase the capacity to serve the Asian American and immigrant population.	Austin Public Health utilizes Social Service Contracts to provide mental health services for a total of $777,271.
