Integral Care provides administration support for the Community Advancement Network (CAN). CAN is a partnership of governmental, non-profit, private and faith-based organizations that leverages mutual resources to collectively improve social, health, educational and economic opportunities in Central Texas. As a neutral convener, connector, and informer in the community, the CAN partnership works to promote a community of equity and opportunity for all. CAN provides a community forum for creative and collaborative problem solving, inclusive community participation, and community consensus-building. CAN staff provide management, coordination, communication and follow-through for all phases of this community-wide collaborative process. CAN shares research, data, and information that helps connect efforts and assist CAN partners, service providers, and others to do their work in the community. Key stakeholders include policymakers, administrators, planners, leaders of issue area groups and coalitions, other community-based organizations, and the community at large. Additional funding supports CAN events and outreach, including online services.
