PRESERVATION AUSTIN CELEBRATES 60 YEARS OF PRESERVATION MERIT AWARD WINNERS

AUSTIN, Texas, October, 19, 2020 – Commemorating the 60th year of the Annual Preservation Merit Awards, Preservation Austin is delighted to once again recognize ambitious and innovative approaches in preserving the city's unique architectural, cultural and environmental heritage. This year's 11 honorees represent categories from the preservation of cultural landscapes, to education efforts and the rehabilitation of historic properties.

With humble beginnings in 1960, the Annual Preservation Merit Awards honors projects and advocates who demonstrate inspired preservation efforts that defend Austin's unparalleled legacy. "We love showcasing these projects and amplifying all the creativity and passion that makes them possible," said Lindsey Derrington, Executive Director of Preservation Austin. "They show what historic preservation looks like in the 21st century and make Austin a more fulfilling place to call home."

The 2020 Preservation Merit Awards includes an ensemble of diverse award winners. With projects including the reformation of a nearly 100-year-old machine shop into a contemporary beer hall and the rehabilitation of a historic Italian Renaissance Revival mansion, recipients of this year's awards have gone above and beyond. The Special Recognition Awards segment also recognizes the likes of Public City and the Old Austin Neighborhood Association for their education and advocacy accomplishments.

Preservation Austin brings together professionals from the preservation, design and nonprofit worlds to serve on its jury each year and to select exemplary projects with community impact. The 2020 Preservation Merits Awards Jury included:

- Erin Dowell, Senior Designer, Lauren Ramirez Styling & Interiors
- Melissa Ayala, Community Engagement & Government Relations Manager, Waterloo Greenway Conservancy
- Murray Legge, FAIA, Murray Legge Architecture
- Elizabeth Porterfield, Senior Architectural Historian, Hicks & Company
- Justin Kockritz, Lead Project Reviewer, Federal Programs, Texas Historical Commission

Winners will be honored throughout the next month via social media and online promotions. To ensure the future success of preservation efforts in Austin and the advancement of the Preservation Merit Awards, visit: <https://www.preservationaustin.org/join-renew>
