

These are examples of ways to look at activity to inform planning and operational decisions.

