Additional Backup Information:

This master interlocal agreement will allow City departments to engage in individual project agreements with Texas State University (TXST) - specifically, the School of Criminal Justice and Criminology and the Department of Geography and Environmental Studies - without having to seek Council approval for each individual project agreement. The master terms and conditions will be negotiated once, and each time a department would like to engage in a new individual project agreement with TXST, they will submit a work order and scope of work to the City to coordinate the individual project with TXST using the master interlocal agreement. This master interlocal agreement is intended to simplify and expedite future individual project agreement negotiations between the City and TXST. In addition, this agreement will allow the City to quickly join TXST research projects as a test site.

Strategic Outcome(s):
