Possible discussion includes: organizing informational meetings with departments, Council offices, etc; possible creation of budget follow-up working groups; possible vote on JIC representatives to upcoming meetings with departments, Budget Office, or Council offices.
 - 1. Notes: ACM Hayden-Howard will have a conversation with Ed & Kerri about how they envision this part of the budget engagement process to work. This could include information being shared with the City Manager, but questions remain about the response from departments about if recommendations can be implemented with existing funds or require new funds. The part of the process being referred to here is the city manager's proposed budget and the expectation is that commissions would be provided by the budget office a report on recommendations that were made, in terms of if they were included in the budget or not.
