The City Manager is directed to include in the mission and workplans of the Austin Civilian Conservation Corps that, in addition to or as part of providing green programs, initiatives and opportunities, that at least 25% of the resources provided to the ACCC are to be directed (1) to provide pathways to jobs specifically for people experiencing homelessness who otherwise would not have access to or have difficulty accessing employment, or (2) to otherwise support and be a part of our community's homelessness response system, including for example assisting with placemaking efforts associated with the HEAL initiative. The City Manager is further directed to prepare an evaluation of the Austin Civilian Conservation Corps pilot that includes, without limitation, the number of and how it has helped put people on intended pathways.
