

An aerial photograph of Waterloo, Ontario, showing a dense urban grid. A yellow line highlights the proposed Greenway project, which runs along the southern edge of the city, following the course of the Credit River. The river flows from the top left towards the bottom right. The project area is marked by a yellow line and includes several rectangular yellow patches, likely indicating specific project segments or land parcels. The surrounding area is a mix of residential, commercial, and industrial buildings, with some green spaces and parks visible.
