

Halana,

Here's the reports supporting an Intergenerational Resource and Activity Center (IRAC) located close to housing for low-income seniors on city-owned property. Austin City Manager oversees Resolution #59 executed on 12-8-22 <https://services.austintexas.gov/edims/document.cfm?id=3995792/6>

2016 Cost-effectiveness of PACE versus STAR+PLUS for dual-eligible (Medicare-Medicaid) in Texas (PRP 188 Angel.pdf \(utexas.edu\))

2018 Age-Inclusive Center/IDC prp_197_young-hip-austin-is-getting-old-2018 \(1\) \(42\).pdf; p. 82

2018 Bond Proposal IDC adjacent to affordable senior housing on city-owned property for low-income older adults Supplement 2018 Bond Proposal April 20 2018.pdf \(utexas.edu\)

2019 Best-practice IDC models: Housing linked to supportive care for low-income older adults in Austin IDC Brief 10.15.19.docx \(live.com\)

2019 Resolution #41 qualitative study and poll of ADC-IDC on city-owned property MMAC Resolution 20181018-041 Austin Public Health.pdf \(utexas.edu\); p. 65; Site evaluation

2020 Qualitative study on potential interest in intergenerational day activities Final Report Intergenerational Day Center Pilot July 16 2020 \(utexas.edu\)

Recent article "Intergenerational Day Centers: A New Wave in Adult and Child Day Care" ijerph-20-00809-v3 \(1\).pdf

Thanks,

Dr. Angel