Alignment with PARD Long Range Plan

- A. Ensure parks act as a relief from urban life
 - 7. Protect and manage natural areas to intentionally balance recreational use with environmental protection.
 - 7.6. Explore where “nature play” areas could be added to PARD parkland.
- C. Activate & enhance urban public spaces
 - 3. Support more dense, flexible, and diverse programs and amenities in urban public spaces within and beyond PARD parkland.
- D. Align programs with community interest
 - 1. Provide more nature-based programs.
 - 3. Increase the number, diversity, and equitable distribution of arts and culture programs being offered through PARD.
 - 3.4 Increase public art installations.
 - 4. Explore partnership strategies to increase low-income access to PARD programming.
 - 5. Leverage “pop-up” programming and temporary uses to activate public spaces and expand access to programs typically held in recreation and cultural centers.
- E. Optimize & improve efficiency of operations
 - 4. Improve the value and awareness of parks and recreation system offerings to the community.
 - 4.6 Consider centralizing programs that leverage outside volunteers and funding

2023 Programming Highlights

- Music on the Trail (Weekly): Partnered with community groups such as HAAM, the MACC, Of Color, ATX Musicians and others to provide live popup music from 2 local bands each Saturday on the Trail.
- Flow & Thrive (Monthly): Monthly free wellness series for all ages and abilities – expanded to include yoga, meditation, and fitness classes.
- Scavenger Hunt: Trail-wide Trees of the Trail scavenger hunt allowed for community members to learn about the local history and ecology of the area's oldest and most loved trees.
- Kids Adopt-a-Garden with Mendez and Camacho Community Centers: Introduced children to all facets of gardening including planting, watering, weeding, and harvesting, as well as important concepts such as pollination, composting, and the differences between native and invasive species.
- Earth Day Clean-Up & Festival Partnered with the Rowing Dock, Epic SUP, and other community partners to host a lake-wide cleanup as well as a free family festival at International Shores
- Holidays on the Trail: Santa on the Trail is scheduled to be hosted in November to provide 2 locations for families to have their holiday photos taken on the Trail. New in 2023 added Trail or Treat community festival for Halloween. Bilingual options provided
- Partner Programming: It's My Park Day, Clean Lady Bird Lake, Camacho Bike Club, PRIDE Festival, and more

Community Engagement

TTC believes free, equitable and inclusive access to the Trail is vital to the health and wellbeing of our community. Input from our Trail users, donors, volunteers, advocates, and team members is necessary for the Trail to be a welcoming space to represent the communities we serve.

Guiding Principles and Beliefs

- We embrace diversity, equity and inclusion at the center of our daily work and nurture a sense of ownership and belonging for the Trail.
- We advance programs and services that create opportunities for all people to flourish and promote a deeper understanding of our differences.
- We foster an experience where everyone feels they can bring their unique perspective – visible and invisible – to the Trail, so that they can be their true selves.
- We believe these ideals are best promoted by leadership of diverse backgrounds, experiences, and identities.

2023/2024 Highlights:

- Community engagement for Butler Trail Arts + Culture Plan will be continued as the program is rolled out though the year.
- Wrapping up engagement for a Comprehensive Signage Plan which will finalize winter 2023/2024.
- Outreach and engagement for the next series of capital projects at Holly Shores will begin.
- Ongoing community engagement will continue regularly to gather insights from Trail users about programming

Arts + Culture on the Trail

The Arts+Culture on the Trail plan finalized in 2024 has fully launched into a program to bring art and cultural experiences and installations to the Trail.

2024 TEMPO on the Trail

TTC is collaborating with The City of Austin's Art in Public Places program to curate a remarkable temporary art exhibition on the Trail, slated for 2024-2025. They are currently searching for 8 exceptionally talented artists or artist teams to help transform this vision into reality. Artists will be announced this winter.

Goal: Continue to administer much sought-after opportunities for artists to create temporary public art for significant, visible and accessible public sites, while encouraging the creation of site-specific artworks along the trail which may also elevate awareness of Austin's natural beauty and outdoor spaces.

Volunteering on the Trail

- 100- 150 Estimated # of volunteer events
- 1,500 Estimated # of volunteers expected to participate
- 5,000 Estimated # of native plants and trees planted
- 13,000 Estimated pounds of trash removed
- 400 Estimated yards of mulch spread

In addition to the ecological benefits of the TTC volunteer program, additional community benefit will include outreach to youth groups, green jobs development, an expanded internship program, and ongoing education.

Shoreline Stewardship Program:

- Partnership between WPD and TTC - builds upon the extensive ongoing restoration work championed by TTC.
- Dedicated to a community-based approach to improving the natural areas and shoreline and closely correlates with TTC's volunteer program.

Community Benefit

- Alignment with PARD Long Range Plan and Community feedback
- Free music, fitness, educational, and family-friendly programming and activities year round open to all of the Austin community
- Partnership programming opportunities with community groups such as Just Keep Livin', Xerces Society, Of Color and more
- Expanded opportunities for arts and culture experiences on the Trail based on the Butler Trail Arts+Culture Plan
- Commitment to bilingual translations for programming, signage and messaging
