CASE MANAGER: Kalan Contreras, 512-974-2727

NEIGHBORHOOD ORGANIZATIONS: Austin Independent School District, Austin Lost and Found Pets, Austin Neighborhoods Council, Del Valle Community Coalition, East Austin Conservancy, East Cesar Chavez IBIZ District, East Cesar Chavez Neighborhood Association, East Cesar Chavez Neighborhood Plan Contact Team, East Town Lake Citizens Neighborhood Association, El Concilio Mexican-American Neighborhoods, Friends of Austin Neighborhoods, Greater East Austin Neighborhood Association, Guadalupe Neighborhood Development Corporation, Homeless Neighborhood Association, Neighborhood Empowerment Foundation, Neighbors United for Progress, Preservation Austin, SELTexas, Sierra Club, Austin Regional Group, Tejano Town

DEPARTMENT COMMENTS: The 2016 East Austin Historic Resource Survey recommends the main building as eligible for designation as a local landmark, individually eligible for listing in the National Register of Historic Places and contributing to potential local and National Register historic districts. The survey recommends the secondary building as contributing to potential local and National Register historic districts.

BASIS FOR RECOMMENDATION:

§ 25-2-352(3)(c)(i) Architecture. The property embodies the distinguishing characteristics of a recognized architectural style, type, or method of construction; exemplifies technological innovation in design or construction; displays high artistic value in representing ethnic or folk art, architecture, or construction; represents a rare example of an architectural style in the city; serves as an outstanding example of the work of an architect, builder, or artisan who significantly contributed to the development of the city, state, or nation; possesses cultural, historical, or architectural value as a particularly fine or unique example of a utilitarian or vernacular structure; or represents an architectural curiosity or one-of-a-kind building.

The buildings are good examples of the live-work model of neighborhood groceries, consisting of a primary store building and a secondary dwelling space, usually located away from the more public-facing street frontage. The application for historic zoning describes the property in detail:

1311 E Cesar Chavez is a 2,400 sq ft structure fronting Cesar Chavez with an adjoining outdoor courtyard connecting to a 1,200 sq ft back house at 94 Navasota St. 1311 features a unique facade for what remains in its vicinity. The building has a symmetrical, three-bay primary facade with a central, double-door entrance flanked by matching storefronts composed of three, full-height fixed lights with brick sills and divided light transoms. Alterations are minimal and include painted brick and the replacement of original doors and windows with aluminum doors and window frames. Despite some loss of original material, the building retains its historic appearance to a high degree in its original form, massing, symmetrical facades, fenestration pattern, transoms and sills, name and date panels, and tile coping along the secondary roof forms.

The building's stepped parapet can be seen in an image dating back as early as 1929. Despite this earlier reference, the year 1937 is carved into the brick. This date aligns with building permits issued the same year for both 1311 and 94. The Austin American, May 30, 1937, shows that Johnson and Johnson (words also carved into the front of the building) were given permits for the 1309-1311 "brick fronted stucco store building", and for the 94 Navasota Street "stucco residence". Based on comparison of the 1929 image and what we see today, the original character of the building remains the same.¹

§ 25-2-352(3)(c)(ii) Historical Associations. The property has long-standing significant associations with persons, groups, institutions, businesses, or events of historic importance which contributed significantly to the history of the city, state, or nation; or represents a significant portrayal of the cultural practices or the way of life of a definable group of people in a historic time.

The buildings are associated with several Austin grocers, most notably former City Councilman Will T. Johnson. Johnson served as president of both the Austin and Texas Retail Grocers Associations. They are also associated with the development patterns of East Cesar Chavez Street, as described in the application:

From Stephanie Phillips text regarding the East Cesar Chavez Street Survey Area (ARC386M), 'During the period from 1877 through 1928, commercial development lined East 1st (Cesar Chavez) Street, East 6th Street, and East 12th Street, with industrial development clustered near the rail depots along East 4th and East 5th Streets near East Avenue (IH35)... Commercial enterprises of the era were small and locally owned. The most prevalent business types appear to have been grocery stores, along with dry goods stores, meat markets, breweries, saloons, cafés, barber shops and beauty shops... In this climate, businesses owned by Europeans thrived and expanded. They owned and operated the bulk of the small commercial enterprises that characterized the neighborhood. It was typical for families to maintain residences next to their stores.'

This information is in line with the occupant history of both 1311 East Cesar Chavez and 94 Navasota. The buildings were initially purchased by August Kunz who likely lived in the backhouse and used the 1311 address as [his grocery store.]²

Charles Mayer worked with Allen Grimes to operate Mayer & Grimes Grocers at 1311 E. Cesar Chavez Street (then E. 1st Street) for a year from 1899 to 1900. Little is known about the two, although Mayer does appear in the 1889-1890 city directory. At the time, Mayer was a clerk for John Doehler (310 W. 16th cor Guadalupe) and boarded there as well. Doehler sold "dry goods, clothing, boots, shoes, hardware, crockery, [and] groceries" and operated a saloon.

Charles Mayer's listing and John Doehler's listing in the Morrison & Fourmy's General Directory of the City of Austin for 1889-1890.

William T. (1883-1955) and Tennie R. Johnson (1884-1953), married, lived at 94 Navasota and operated the grocery store at 1311 E. Cesar Chavez Street (then E. 1st Street). William T. Johnson was born and raised in Travis County but met and married Tennie Roberts Smith in Oklahoma where William was working as a grocery store clerk. They moved back to Austin, and William continued working as a grocer. He was an active part of his community—serving on City Council for six years and three terms, teaching Sunday school programs at his church, and bring president of the Austin Retail Grocers Association and the Texas Retail Grocers Association. At the time of their deaths, both William and Tennie had lived in Austin for the majority of their livs. They had two daughters, Jessie and Irma, and one son, Raymond.

Mrs. Johnson, Ex-Councilman's Wife, Succumbs

Mrs. Will T. Johnson, wife of the former city councilman, died at her home at 705 East Monroe Wednesday night. She was 69 and had been in failing health since May.

Mrs. Johnson had been a resident of Austin for more than 40 years, moving to Texas after she met and married Johnson in Oklahoma. She originally was from Mississippi.

Johnson served three terms—six years—on the City Council but did not seek reelection this year. He is a retired grocer.

Tennie R. Johnson's obituary in the Austin American (October 8, 1953) and Will T. Johnson's obituary in the Austin American (December 18, 1955)

Raymond D. Johnson (1913-2008) was the Johnson & Johnson Grocery Store manager after his father. Raymond was born in Austin and lived here throughout his life, with the exception of his time serving in WWII. He received the Air Medal, Presidential Unit Citation, and the Bronze Star for his airforce work in Germany. Outside of his military experience and grocery work. Raymond also found employment as a woodworker and with the U.S. Postal Service. Like his father, Raymond was dedicated to his community and served as both a volunteer firefighter and a Scoutmaster.

Raymond Douglas Johnson Raymond Douglas Johnson, 94, of Austin, passed away on Wednesday 23, 2008. Raymond was born on December 7, 1913 in Austin to parents William Turner Johnson and Tennie Roberta Smith. An Austin native and lifelong resident, Raymond grew up in Austin's 10th Ward and graduated from Austin High School in 1931. His family owned three Johnson and Johnson Grocery Stores in Austin and Raymond worked at each throughout his youth. Also after graduation he embarked on two different cross country trips where he visited a total of 43 states on his Indian motorcycle. Raymond was a veteran of WWII where he provided distinguished service as a Flight Officer and Glider Pilot. He served in Germany and during Operation Varsity he landed his glider behind enemy lines during the largest single-day airborne operation of the War. He was the recipient of the Air Medal and Presidential Unit Citation and the Bronze Star. Upon his return to Austin, Raymond worked for Precision Woodworking where he was a cabinet maker. Concerned that there would not be many more houses built in Austin he found a more stable career with the U.S. Postal Service where he worked until he retired as the Superintendent at the Austin Mail Facility shortly after he was widowed in 1973. He purchased rural property on Lake Austin in 1937 and went on to build what would be his lifelong home in 1946. Raymond served for many years as the Chief of the River Hills Volunteer Fire Department before passing the position to his sons. He also served as Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 91 in Austin. Raymond had a passion for helping people and impacted many young lives by taking in family and non-family during tough times, straightening them out and then returning them to the world. He was an animal lover who had many wonderful friendships with his dogs over the years. Raymond will be remembered as a terrific story teller and the consummate practical joker who was rarely seen without his trademark cigar in his mouth. He enjoyed hunting, fishing and gardening. Raymond will be truly missed by so many. Raymond was preceded in death by his parents William and Tennie Johnson, loving wife Patsy Louise Johnson, infant son Melvin Douglas Johnson, sisters Jessie Anna Waltrip and Irma Lee Porsch and brother J.W. Johnson. Raymond is survived by his sons, Dr. Raymond D. Johnson Jr. and wife Kim and Billy Pete Johnson and wife Susan; grandchildren, Amber George and husband Justin, Roxi Tsakas and husband Tasos, Cody Johnson, Jacki Barrientes, John Parker, Jessica Parker, Tabitha Bailey and Chance Barrow; great-grandchildren, Maggie George, Austin George, Javen Barrientes, Jaya Barrientes and Tristan Tsakas and his niece, Peggy Aldridge and husband Jim. Committal services with Military Honors and Taps played by Raymond's nephew B.A. Waltrip Jr. will follow at Cook-Walden/Forest Oaks Memorial Park. In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to the Drift Inn Wildlife Sanctuary, 400 York Creek Rd.; Driftwood, TX 78619, or to the charity of your choice. The family has established a website in Raymond's honor at www.MeM.com Visitors to the site may view photos and tributes as well as sign the online guestbook and leave voice greetings.

Raymond D. Johnson's obituary in the Austin American-Statesman (July 25, 2008)

F.9: Historical Documentation - Brief Historical Narrative

1311 E Cesar Chavez is a 2,400 sq ft structure fronting Cesar Chavez with an adjoining outdoor courtyard connecting to a 1,200 sq ft back house at 94 Navasota St. 1311 features a unique facade for what remains in its vicinity. The building has a symmetrical, three-bay primary façade with a central, double-door entrance flanked by matching storefronts composed of three, full-height fixed lights with brick sills and divided light transoms. Alterations are minimal and include painted brick and the replacement of original doors and windows with aluminum doors and window frames. Despite some loss of original material, the building retains its historic appearance to a high degree in its original form, massing, symmetrical facades, fenestration pattern, transoms and sills, name and date panels, and tile coping along the secondary roof forms.

The building's stepped parapet can be seen in an image dating back as early as 1929. Despite this earlier reference, the year 1937 is carved into the brick. This date aligns with building permits issued the same year for both 1311 and 94. The Austin American, May 30, 1937, shows that Johnson and Johnson (words also carved into the front of the building) were given permits for the 1309-1311 "brick fronted stucco store building", and for the 94 Navasota street "stucco residence". Based on comparison of the 1929 image and what we see today, the original character of the building remains the same. Similarly, materials mentioned in the 1937 permit are consistent with both existing spaces. The interior's floor plan remains open, with only two small enclosed spaces added in the last decade. Restrooms remain located at the rear of the building. Raw concrete floors reveal modifications to the space over time, although the original footprint of the structure has not changed.

Again, 94 Navasota is a stucco residence with wing and gable. It is placed approximately 20 feet from the street, with a lawn space in front, and four front steps surrounded by a porch; a raised wooden platform with columns supporting either side of the roof. Interesting elements of the Navasota house include cedar posts that can be seen supporting the structure as well as wooden 2x4's in the attic measuring outside the modern standard, dating them near the turn of the century. Hardwood floors in excellent condition exist throughout the residence. Four doors exit to different sides of the building: the west-facing entryway, the north-facing access to the courtyard, and two south-facing doors, both with stairs attached.

From Stephanie Phillips text regarding the East Cesar Chavez Street Survey Area (ARC386M), 'During the period from 1877 through 1928, commercial development lined East 1st (Cesar Chavez) Street, East 6th Street, and East 12th Street, with industrial development clustered near the rail depots along East 4th and East 5th Streets near East Avenue (IH35)... Commercial enterprises of the era were small and locally owned. The most prevalent business types appear to have been grocery stores, along with dry goods stores, meat markets, breweries, saloons, cafés, barber shops and beauty shops... In this climate, businesses owned by Europeans thrived and expanded. They owned and operated the bulk of the small commercial enterprises that characterized the neighborhood. It was typical for families to maintain residences next to their stores.'

This information is in line with the occupant history of both 1311 East Cesar Chavez and 94 Navasota. The buildings were initially purchased by August Kunz who likely lived in the backhouse and used the 1311 address as the 'Kunz August Grocer'

The first record of the 1311 East 1st Street building is from the 1890 city directory. Here it is seen under the ownership of Kunz August and is called "Groceries and Beer". This is confirmed again in the Texas State Gazetteer and Business Directory of 1890-91. In the 1898 city directory, we can see the building, including the address 1309 East 1st St., remains under the same ownership. By 1899 the building was under the ownership of Charles Mayer and Allen Grimes. The 1898 city directory shows the 94 Navasota house being owned by Angeline Wells with the business "Wells Cass, wks Austin Ice and Fuel Co.", being run there as well. In 1900, Mayer and Grimes put the business up for sale in the classified ads in the Daily Statesman.

By 1901 the grocery had changed hands again to H.A. Herzog. Herzog's name comes up in the Sep 12th, 1905 want ads, where he is recorded asking for a, "sober, industrious man, middle age, German preferred, to attend to horses and store." This suggests that the owners were likely German immigrants, something that can be surmised by the name of the original owner, August Kunz, and the knowledge that the commercial enterprises in the area were mainly owned and run by European immigrants.

The 94 Navasota house was then (1906) under the ownership of JP Adams, who was a butter maker and ran the Florence Creamery from his residence.

On July 19th, 1907 an article in the paper was published discussing the number of liquor licenses filed in the county. Under Malt Licenses we find H.A. Herzog, 1311 East First street. According to another Daily Tribune city directory, this was also Herzog's residence.

The 1917 automobile registry in The Statesman is the first record of the Johnson & Johnson name being associated with the 1311 address. William T. and Tennie R. Johnson are listed in the 1930 U.S. Census as the renters of the house at 1309 E. 1st Street in Austin. William and Tennie were married in 1905 and came to Austin from Oklahoma and a few years later, opened their grocery store. The Historical Resources Survey of IV 2016 (p. 337) has the grocery listed beginning in 1922.

As mentioned previously, building permits were issued in 1937. This is likely when the buildings became what we see today. The Stephanie Phillips text (ARC386M) from 2013 gives a description, statement of significance, and recommendations for the East Cesar Chavez street survey area, "The original function of each building is often clearly delineated not only by its size, scale, and architectural style, but also its proximity to the sidewalk.

Residential properties are predominantly set back approximately ten to twenty feet to allow for a front yard, walkway, vegetation, and porches of various sizes. The treatment of these lawn spaces vary from lot to lot, some featuring more gravel or rocky-based floor beds and others with mowed grass and native and non-native trees or shrubbery, including palm and cypress. Residential porches predominantly consist of two to four front steps surrounded by a raised wooden platform with pillars or columns supporting either side of the roof. However, the complexity, craftsmanship, and style vary from residence to residence." This is the case with 94 Navasota. We can see that it meets this description almost entirely. The Navasota house is listed jointly with the 1311 commercial building in the Historic Resources Survey III of 2016 as a residential, single family house bungalow paired with a commercial block.

Referencing commercial properties, she states, "In contrast, most of the original commercial properties, especially one-to-three lot stand- alone or strip structures, are built immediately adjacent to the sidewalk. Front doors are directly accessible a step or two away from the pedestrian flow. Thus, the public and private natures of original commercial and residential properties, respectively, are clearly delineated by their ease of access to the city street that is often consistently bustling with traffic." This description matches the 1309-1311 East Cesar Chavez property. The white painted stucco one-story commercial block was likely constructed as a result of the city's zoning laws that designated the survey area as commercial. We can see the intended nature of both buildings based on their distance from the sidewalks.

The Navasota house went back on the market in 1940, listed as 4 rooms and 1 bath by Garret & Ziller. The house was acquired by the Johnson family soon after that. In a historic landmark commission article (HDP-2013-0886), the 94 Navasota house is said to be occupied by William T. and Tennie Johnson. It seems that they lived there with their son (Raymond) and daughter in law as well. An article in the 1945 Austin Statesman describes Raymond Johnson's journey to England as a pilot in the strategic air force. His wife is listed as living at 94 Navasota in this article. Further, it states that Raymond was "manager of Johnson and Johnson Food Store" The property remained in the hands of the Johnsons for at least the next 15 years. The Austin Statesman obituaries of 1960 show that Vernon Johnson was residing there at the time of his death. Clearly, the 94 Navasota house was an integral part of the Johnson and Johnson grocery store, as it housed numerous members of the family, and employees of the company, between 1945-1960.

The two buildings changed hands and purposes more quickly over the subsequent years but they remained owned by the Johnson family, specifically by Irma Lee Johnson Porsch (Raymond Johnson's sister). In 1966, it was transferred to her son Herman D. Porsch then finally it was sold out of the family to Louis Saldana in 1989. This information can be found on the Travis Central Appraisal District website under deeds. The two lots are shown as one property (188766) on this website.

As late as 1962, the 1311 commercial building continued to be used as a grocery store but in 1964 its use began to change. First, in 1964, the Statesman has an ad for “top prices, paid for used furniture. All types needed, Sam’s Furniture, 1311 East 1st.” Then we can see that the building changed purposes again with A & B Appliances in a 1974 advertisement for ‘Refrigerators, stoves, washers, and dryers - sold, bought, trades - guaranteed - delivery and service - we have a good selection now. Come in for your good deal today. A&B 1311 E. 1st.’ It then changed again in 1981 to Riojas Enterprises (furniture), in 1987 to Jesse’s Supplies and Furniture, and then finally became vacant for over 20 years before being rented by landscape architecture firm Big Red Sun in 2010.

Several people lived in the Navasota house after leaving the care of the Johnsons. We learn that the residence was occupied by Mike DeLos Santos through another Austin American Statesman article in 1974. A birth announcement from the Statesman tells us that Sylvia Herrera and Ricky Elizondo welcomed a daughter, Ashley, to the household on March 30th, 1991. In 2010, under the care of Big Red Sun, a local garden and landscaping design business, the properties were well maintained. The property also contained a painted brick fence with aluminum doors that extended to the lot line on the northwest. On July 15, 2020 the two buildings were sold to Women & Their Work.

According to the East Cesar Chavez Street Survey Area Description, Statement of Significance, and Recommendations document, “Because an analysis and breakdown of the survey area’s history revealed its association with several prominent early 20th century Austin businessmen and families, there is a possibility that several individual properties within the area, if not already nominated as an Austin Landmark, could be nominated under the additional Criterion B- person of significance at the local level...The survey area is of quintessential importance to the developmental and social history of Austin.”

Furthermore, according to the Historic Resource Survey IV, 2016, p. 337, the 1311 building has, “No previous local designations; Recommended eligible as a local landmark; Recommended contributing to a local historic district.” According to the Historic Resources Survey III of 2016, the 94 Navasota building (which is listed under the 1311 address) has, “No previous local designations; Recommended contributing to a local historic district” and “No previous NRHP designations; Recommended contributing to a NRHP district.”
