

To whom it may Concern,

As a resident of the agrihood_ first of its kind, I am proud to stand with Green Gate Farms. This community showed love and acceptance in all places, neighbors became friends, then family. During the pandemic, we banded closer together. We share food and resources, time and company together. Fire pit Fridays and general hellos as we walk through our area. We always stand together. Whether pumpkin chunking or a pot lot. Our community has geese, ducks, and eggs, all shared without impunity. We have Halloween, Easter and Winter solstice together. We are a family that opens their arms and welcomes all. It is truly a reward to live in a community that values people over food prices. We love it here and hope that others take us as an example.

Love,
