BASIS FOR RECOMMENDATION:

§ 25-2-352(3)(c)(i) Architecture. The property embodies the distinguishing characteristics of a recognized architectural style, type, or method of construction; exemplifies technological innovation in design or construction; displays high artistic value in representing ethnic or folk art, architecture, or construction; represents a rare example of an architectural style in the city; serves as an outstanding example of the work of an architect, builder, or artisan who significantly contributed to the development of the city, state, or nation; possesses cultural, historical, or architectural value as a particularly fine or unique example of a utilitarian or vernacular structure; or represents an architectural curiosity or one-of-a-kind building.

The building is a good example of the Queen Anne style, with a unique corner porch and tented-roof tower seen on few buildings in Austin. It is two-and-a-half stories with horizontal wood siding. Fenestration includes double-hung 2:2 wood windows with decorative screens, 4:4 infill windows, stained and leaded glass in multi-paned fixed windows, and transoms over doors. The roof is compound, with a hipped main roof mass accented with a front-facing gable and pyramidal tower at the corner porch, which appears to have once been open at the second floor. The tower's unique roof form appears to be a simplified example of the concave tented roof found in turrets of more complex Queen Anne structures. In Austin, the 1887 Butler House (309 W. 11th St., demolished in 1971 for a parking garage), the 1883 Jesse Driskill House (2610 Whitis Ave., demolished in 1963 for a parking garage) and the John W. Driskill House (2607 Whitis, demolished ca. 1958 for a UT residence hall),[1] all earlier and more elaborate versions of the corner tower with tented roof, may have been inspirations for this later nearby building. The tower, the projecting bay, and the one-story portion at the rear of the house appear on the 1900 Sanborn map.

[1] https://texashistory.unt.edu/ark:/67531/metapth673507/,https://www.realestateinaustin.com/blog/vintage-austin-butler-

§ 25-2-352(3)(c)(ii) Historical Associations*. The property has long-standing significant associations with persons, groups, institutions, businesses, or events of historical importance that contributed significantly to the history of the city, state, or nation or represents a significant portrayal of the cultural practices or the way of life of a definable group of people in a historic time.*

The house is associated with the Thiele family, including Grace Thiele, professor of biology and chemistry; Ida Thiele, charter member of the Violet Lodge of the Sons of Hermann; and Edward A. Thiele, entrepreneur and member of a prominent Austin family of butchers. The 2020 North University-Windsor-Hyde Park survey also notes the building's significant historical associations with the overarching development patterns of the era.[2]

The main house at 909 West 22 ½ Street was constructed around 1899 for Edward A. and Ida Thiele. Edward A. Thiele was a butcher; it appears that his brothers also worked as butchers in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries in Austin, as numerous Thieles owned and operated meat markets around town. Edward Thiele owned the Thiele Meat Market on Guadalupe around the turn of the century. Its location was convenient for him, as he served as a volunteer fireman and treasurer of North Austin Hose Company No. 6, who headquartered at the station at 3002 Guadalupe.

Both Edward and Ida Thiele were active in the Sons of Hermann organization, a fraternal order for German immigrants. Ida Thiele is noted as a charter member of the Violet Lodge of the Sisters of the Sons of Hermann and was honored for fifty years in its service in 1955.

By 1956, both Edward and Ida Thiele, their daughter Nelle, and their son Horace had passed away, and the house passed to their remaining daughter, Professor Grace Eunice Thiele. After enrolling at the State Medical School of Galveston in 1922, Thiele changed her academic trajectory and received her Master's degree in zoology from the University of Texas in 1927—a rare accomplishment for a woman in the early twentieth century in her field. Thiele went on to teach biology and chemistry at Mary Hardin Baylor College. Professor Thiele owned the home until 1990.

The 2020 North University-Windsor-Hyde Park survey also notes that the building is significant as an example of the larger development patterns of the era, as large tracts of land were broken up at the turn of the century to allow for new development.

THE NORTH AUSTIN FIREMEN CELEBRATE

THE EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE COMPANY'S ORGANIZATION PLEASANTLY OBSERVED LAST EVENING.

MANY GUESTS PRESENT AND WELL ENTERTAINED

One of the Happiest Affairs Ever Given by Any Company of the Austin Fire Department—Music, Refreshments and General Good Time.

The North Austin Hose company No. 6, the youngest company in the Austin Fire department and one of the most efficient, celebrated its eighth birthday at its quarters, 3002 Guadalupe street, last night in a most pleasant manner. Invitations had been sent to all the fire companies and the city officials and a large number of guests were present, all enjoying themselves to the fullest extent.

The North Austin fire boys are whole souled and hospitable and when they give social functions there is always a large attendance, as everybody knows that an enjoyable time is to be had. Last night's affair was a brilliant success and from 8 o'clock to midnight music, refreshments and card playing was enjoyed. The company's band rendered a well selected program during the evening, which was one of the features.

The committee on arrangements consisted of R. Seekatz, Joe Volz, Ed Gafney, John Bryan and Alfred Lindolf, and they performed their duties to perfection. The entire company was the reception committee and they saw that everybody had a good time. Alderman Joe Macken, ex-chief of the fire department, and who has been a member of the North Austin company for a long time, was busy all the time welcoming the guests. Judge Walter L. White had a whole lot to do with having the banquet served, and Colonel J. J. Hildinger and Steward Johnson were simply great in serving liquid refreshments.

The banquet was served in Colonel Hildinger's building adjoining the fire company's headquarters and the tables were loaded down with good things.

The ex-chiefs of the department were out in force. Among them were Billy Russell, Joseph Stumpf, C. H. Eonte, Joe Macken and Will Dill.

The North Austin firemen entertained in a way that will always be pleasantly remembered by those in attendance, and the best wishes of continued success in the future were showered upon the members.

The North Austin Fire company was organized August 1, 1896, by the citizens of North Austin, principally from the Fifth and Sixth wards. A charter was obtained on October 19, 1896. The first officers were: E. B. Carruth, president; J. B. Gasser, vice president; H. E. Seekatz, foreman; J. J. Hildinger, first assistant foreman; John Hildinger, treasurer; G. W. Turner, secretary; J. W. Lensing, steward.

The present officers are: W. N. McElroy, president; J. M. Hall, vice president; Louis C. Hausmann, secretary; Ed Thiele, treasurer; George J. Mayhum, foreman; Otto Thiele, first assistant foreman; Joe Volz, second assistant foreman; John Johnson, steward.

North Austin Hose company's quarters are at 3002 Guadalupe street and are kept in tip top condition by S. M. Lightsey, the efficient and popular driver. The first home of the company was at Thirtieth and Rio Grande streets, donated by Mr. Fellman of Galveston, an old Austin fireman.

FIREMEN CELEBRATE THE SAN JACINTO DAY

Parade in the Morning Followed by the Inspection---Picnic at Park a Decided Success.

Never was there a more perfect day than yesterday for the annual celebration of San Jacinto day by the firemen of Austin. The weather was almost ideal and but for the slightly excessive heat would have been all that could have been desired. As it was the firemen had one of the most enjoyable days in their history. The celebration passed off without a blemish, from the parade in the morning until the "Home, Sweet Home" waltz of the ball at Eighth Street Firemen's hall last night. The firemen have again demonstrated without a doubt that they are entertainers as well as fire fighters.

The celebration opened yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock when the firemen of the city assembled at the corner of East Sixth and Trinity streets, all in uniform, with the trucks. At 9:30 o'clock the parade moved forward up Sixth street toward the Avenue. The procession was headed by the mounted officers of Sheriff Matthews, Chief of Police Will Morris and a few policemen. Following close to them came the Lone Star band and the fire police and immediately after came Hook and Ladder No. 1. Then came the companies in their numerical order. Chief Woodward in his rig with the prancing horse followed the last company, which was on foot. Following the chief were the trucks, many of which were decorated.

Reaching the Avenue the procession turned south to Third street, where it countermarched and marched north to the head of the Avenue, thence south to Seventh street, thence west on Seventh street to Colorado street, where a halt was made for inspection.

Preliminary to the inspection the Lone Star band played a few martial airs which were all applauded. This was followed by the annual inspection by the mayor, which occupied a few minutes. After the inspection the chief of the department called the companies to order and introduced Alderman Moore, who, he stated would preside and deliver the commissions, as the mayor was a little indisposed. Alderman Moore made a few complimentary remarks and then delivered the first commission to Chief Woodward. When Afternoon.

The inspection was over by 11 o'clock and the firemen dispersed to go their way until the afternoon picnic at Hyde Park. The picnic was a great event. Parties all over the grounds could be seen in groups partaking of picnic lunches which had been especially prepared. The big loads began to go out by about 1:30 in the afternoon and by 2 o'clock the park was crowded.

Band Concert.

One very pleasant feature of the entire day was the music by the Lone Star band under the leadership of Professor D. LaBanca. The band played for the parade, for the inspection and in the afternoon carried out a very delightful program. This band has improved greatly under the leader-

Grace Thiele

Grace Thiele, born January 14, 1903, to Ida Marie Nelle Thiele and Edward Augustus Thiele, died July 2, 1992.

Grace was preceded in death by her sister, Nelle Manning; brother, Horace Thiele; and her parents. She is survived by various nieces and nephews.

She graduated from the University of Texas with a BA and a teaching certificate in 1924, and in 1927 earned a Masters degree in zoology. Grace taught Biology and Chemistry at Mary Hardin Baylor College.

Most of her life she lived in the large 2-story Victorian home of her parents at 909 West 22½ Street.

Friends remember her for her love and ability to grow things, her vast botanical knowledge, and for her garden of irises, day lillies, pansies, daisies, sweet peas and sweetheart roses. Her enduring fondness for pastel colors was expressed in the delicate patterns of her handmade quilts.

Grace could always be counted on to support a cause that would help preserve the quality and character of her West University neighborhood. She always stated emphatically that she was "too nervous to teach children", and yet for years she read to and taught valuable lessons to many children in her neighborhood.

A memorial service will be held for Grace at the University Presbyterian Church, Sunday, July 12th at 1:00 PM, conducted by Reverend Woody Berry.

Contributions may be made to the University Presbyterian Church, to which Grace had been a member since 1915; or to the University of Texas, to a science program of the donor's choice.
