Overview

On October 4, 2018, the Austin City Council approved Resolution No. 20181004-036 directing the City Manager to evaluate fee and zoning regulations relating to child care centers.

Council Resolution No. 20181004-036 finds that, "...in order to support high-quality child care that is affordable in the City of Austin, the first step is to break down City barriers that have been identified as the biggest cost drivers of opening, expanding and/or operating these facilities..." The Resolution generally identifies Land Development Code regulations and City fees associated with opening, expanding, and/or operating a child care center, as two potential barriers that child care providers may face in Austin.

1.0 Land Development Code

With regard to the Land Development Code, the City Manager was directed to provide recommendations to Council on how to:

- 1.1 Increase the zoning categories where child care is a permitted use or consider implementing a waiver for the conditional use permit process and/or a fee waiver for conditional use permit fees for high-quality child care centers. The process should include gathering input from high-quality child care providers to determine what barriers they have faced when working with the City to open and/or expand child care centers.
- 1.2 Modify "Day Care Services" to create a separate zoning use classification for "Child Care Services"; and,
- 1.3 Include sub-classifications within a new "Child Care Services" zoning use classification that are based on the number of children the facility will serve.

2.0 City Fees Assessed to Child Care Centers

With regard to City Fees associated with opening, expanding, and/or operating child care centers, the City Manager was directed to:

- 2.1 Identify the current fee schedule and potential fee waivers that may be applied to expenses associated with opening, expanding, and/or operating high-quality child care centers;
- 2.2 Develop options for Council consideration on:
  - o how fees such as annual fees for food service establishment permits, environmental inspections, or fire inspections could be fully or partially waived to reduce some of the operational burden after centers receive a quality rating through the National Association for the Education of Young Children, and/or obtain a 4-star rating through Texas Rising Star; and,
  - o how the City may be reimbursed for waived fees for centers that do not maintain or receive one of the above-mentioned quality ratings after a mutually agreed upon period of time;
- 2.3 Provide Council an estimate of the potential impact of such fee waivers on the Development Services budget as an enterprise fund, and the effect on other Development Services customers of foregoing such revenue; and,
- 2.4 Explore opportunities to collaborate with nonprofit organizations in helping high quality childcare facilities meet cost-of-service fee amounts.

Council also provided additional direction from the dais asking that the City Manager consider how the Small Business Ombudspersons could be tasked with assisting child care centers and that consideration be given to removal of conditional use permit (CUP) requirements for qualifying child care centers. Recommendations regarding the role of the Small Business Ombudsperson can be found in Section 3.0; recommendations regarding CUP permit requirements can be found in Section 1.1.

This report provides the requested information. For the purposes of this report, a “qualifying child care center” is defined as a child care center that accepts child care subsidies, is licensed by the State of Texas, and certified by one or more of the following agencies: the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC), the National Accreditation Commission for Early Care and Educational Programs (NAC), or a Four-Star rated Texas Rising Star program (TRS), per Ordinance No. 20190131-017.

In 2018, there were approximately 522 licensed child care providers in the City of Austin. Of that total, 58 are qualifying child care centers based on the City’s definition. Attached as Appendix A is a list of licensed child care centers in the City of Austin. Attached as Appendix B is a list of qualifying child centers in the City of Austin

Section 1.0 Land Development Code

1.1 Conditional Use Requirements, Parking and Child Care as an Accessory Use

Council directed the City Manager to provide recommendations to Council on how to increase the zoning categories where child care is a permitted use or consider implementing a waiver for the conditional use permit process and/or a fee waiver for conditional use permit fees for high-quality child care centers. Council further directed that the process include gathering input from high-quality child care providers to determine what barriers they have faced when working with the City to open and/or expand child care centers.

Peer City Review and Feedback from Child Care Providers

To determine how Austin's land use regulations impact child care as compared to peer cities, staff researched the following municipalities:

- Dallas, TX
- Fort Worth, TX
- Seattle, WA
- Portland, OR
- San Jose, CA

Research included comparisons of:

- Child care land use definitions
- Zoning schemes, including where child care is permitted, prohibited, or a conditional use
- On-site parking requirements
- Requirements, if any, on the number of enrollees

In order to identify specific barriers to providing high-quality child care in Austin, local child care service providers were given a questionnaire and asked to respond based on their own experiences. This included questions related to how land use regulations, development process, and permitting have impacted operations. This was supplemented, as needed, with phone surveys and follow-up emails.

Conditional Uses

Compared to peer cities, Austin's zoning regulations for child care use (called Day Care Services in the current code) are more permissive. The Land Development Code divides child care services into three different designations, depending on the number of enrollees:

- Day Care Services (Limited): up to 6 enrollees
- Day Care Services (General): 7 to 20 enrollees
- Day Care Services (Commercial): 20+ enrollees

The peer cities staff researched use a single land use for child care services with no enrollee cap, permitting it in commercial and office zoning districts, but conditional in residential districts. In contrast, Austin, by delineating different sizes of child care services, allows for Day Care Services (Limited) (up to 6 enrollees) to be permitted in almost every zoning district without a conditional use process, and Day Care Services (General) to be permitted in almost every non-single-family zoning district. Feedback from child care providers indicated that while expensive and time-consuming, the Conditional Use Permit (CUP) process is rarely used. In addition, there are currently no land uses that receive unique considerations for CUPs – the process, criteria, and fee structure is the same for all submittals and is intended to ensure conditional uses do not adversely impact surrounding areas.

Recommendation:

Staff does not recommend a change to the CUP process.

Parking

Meeting on-site parking requirements was not identified by child care providers as a significant barrier, and compared to peer cities, Austin's existing parking requirement is slightly lower. However, parking remains an expensive construction cost for new or expanding structures (usually Day Care Services (General) and Day Care Services (Commercial)), and space not used for parking could be used for either a larger structure (for more enrollees) or increased outdoor space. Because Child Care Services (Limited) is generally in an existing home that already has two on-site parking spaces, and typically home child care providers have only one or two caregivers, staff recommends maintaining existing parking for Child Care Services (Limited).

Recommendation:

Staff recommends a reduction in parking requirements from 1 space per employee to 0.5 space per employees for Day Care Services (General) and Day Care Services (Commercial).

Expansion of Day Care Services (Limited)

Most Day Care Services (Limited) are operating today out of existing single-family homes, but this requires them to get a change of occupancy from the City, which can be time-consuming and has a fee. Because Day Care Services (Limited) is already permitted in nearly every residential zoning district, staff recommends making it an accessory use to a primary residential use. Allowing this as an accessory use results in a reduction in regulatory requirements. A child care provider will no longer be required to go through the Site Plan Exemption process to formally change the use, saving time and money.

Recommendation:

Staff recommends allowing Day Care Services (Limited) as an accessory use in a principal residential use.

1.2 Creation of "Child Care Services" Land Use

The Council directed the City Manager to review the Land Development Code and provide recommendations to Council on how to modify "Day Care Services" to create a separate zoning use classification for "Child Care Services."

Peer cities use various terms to describe child care use:

- Dallas, TX: Child Care
- Fort Worth, TX: Day Care Center
- Seattle, WA: Child Care Center
- Portland, OR: Daycare
- San Jose, CA: Child Day Care Center

Because child care is the term best accepted, preferred, and used, it would be appropriate to adopt a new use in the Land Development Code. This would make care services for children a separate use from care services for adults.

Recommendation:

Staff recommends creating a new definition and use “Child Care Services” in the land development code. Staff also recommends a modification to the existing “Day Care Services” definition to be “Adult Care Services” (serving enrollees age 18+) to differentiate from the new “Child Care Services” use.

1.3 Land Use Sub-classifications for “Child Care Services”

The Council directed the City Manager to review the Land Development Code and provide recommendations to Council on how to include sub-classifications within a new "Child Care Services" zoning use classification that are based on the number of children the facility will serve.

As mentioned above, Austin currently has three different child care uses, based on the number of enrollees. The smallest cap is for Day Care Services (Limited), which is capped at six enrollees. Feedback from child care providers indicated that some would prefer a higher cap, which would allow for additional revenue, as well as align Austin’s enrollee cap with that of the State, which allows up to 12 children in a Licensed Child-Care Home or a Registered Child-Care Home.

Recommendation:

State regulations allow home child care providers to serve up to 12 children. Staff recommends changing the number of enrollees allowed in Day Care Services (Limited) from 6 to 12, so that all home child care providers fall within the same land use category.

The City currently caps Day Care Services (General) at 20 enrollees. Allowing additional enrollees would allow small child care centers to serve more children without having to change their use to Day Care Services (Commercial), which would necessitate a conditional use permit for most zoning districts.

Recommendation:

Staff recommends changing the number of enrollees allowed in Day Care Services (General) from 20 to 24.

Changing Day Care Services (General) enrollee cap from 20 to 24 will result in a slight change to enrollees for Day Care Services (Commercial).

Recommendation:

Staff recommends changing the number of enrollees allowed in Day Care Services (Commercial) from 21+ to 25+.

Section 2.0 City Fees Assessed to Child Care Centers

2.1 Current Fee Schedule and Potential Fee Waivers

With regard to City fees associated with opening, expanding, and/or operating child care centers, the City Manager was directed to identify the current fee schedule and potential fee waivers that may be applied to expenses associated with opening, expanding, and/or operating high-quality child care centers.

There are two categories of City fees assessed to licensed child care centers by the City of Austin; annual fees and development process fees.

Annual Fees

Annual fees are collected by the Austin Public Health Department and the Austin Fire Department.

The Austin Public Health Department (APH) collects an annual $110 General Environment/ Licensing Inspection fee for all licensed child care centers; and collects an additional $445 Food Establishment Permit Fee for child centers that serve food.

The Austin Fire Department (AFD) collects annual inspection fees for fire alarm and sprinkler inspections. Inspection fees for each inspection type are on a sliding scale based on the total number of devices on the premises. Fees start at $102 per inspection for 1-10 devices, and scale up, to an amount not to exceed $2,000.

Development Process Fees

Development process fees are project specific and depend on the extent of development proposed. In an effort to evaluate the types of development fees that apply when opening or expanding a child care center, the Development Services Department (DSD) pulled all projects that were started or completed between 2016 and 2018. Data availability was limited due to the way information is currently collected in the City's permitting database. As a result, the information below should be considered a sample.

Between January 1, 2016 and December 31, 2018, staff identified 22 development projects associated with opening or expanding a child care center. The cumulative amount of fees assessed per project across the spectrum of City departments that administer development related services ranged from approximately $800 for the addition of a classroom, to over $136,000 for the development a large child care center on raw land.

Attached as Appendix C is a list of the 22 projects, including the project description, the types of fees assessed, and the amount collected. Attached as Appendix D is a table that reflects a more detailed list of the fees assessed for these projects. Please note that, because development fees are project specific, this list may not account for all possible fee scenarios.

2.2 Options for Council Consideration – Fee Waivers and Reimbursement

Council directed the City Manager to develop options for Council consideration on how fees such as annual fees for food service establishment permits, environmental inspections, or fire inspections could be fully or partially waived to reduce some of the operational burden after centers receive a quality rating through the National Association for the Education of Young Children, and/or obtain a 4-star rating through Texas Rising Star. Council also requested options for how the City may be reimbursed for waived fees for centers that do not maintain or receive one of the above-mentioned quality ratings after a mutually agreed upon period of time.

Development Process Fees

With regard to fees assessed during the development process, all City departments, both general fund and enterprise fund, rely on the fees collected to support the services required to administer the development process. The data we were able to collect regarding fees assessed to child care center projects is a sampling, spread across eight departments, and captures varying degrees of project complexity. This makes it difficult to accurately estimate the fiscal impact of fee waivers in any given fiscal year.

Should Council choose to proceed with fee waivers, staff recommends that Council create an economic development grant program for qualifying child care centers to pay for City fees assessed when opening or expanding a qualifying child care center. Staff recommends that the grants be funded by the general fund in a pre-determined amount per fiscal year, with a cap on the total amount available per grant application. This approach reduces the potential for fiscal and operational impacts to departments that provide development related services by identifying an amount that can be budgeted each fiscal year. Staff also recommends that fees for optional services, such as those collected for after-hours inspections and expedited reviews; and fees that are the result of non-compliant work, such as re-inspection fees, be excluded from consideration. DSD would take the lead in administering the grant program.

As with any expenditure of City money, staff recommends the program include sufficient controls to ensure that the money is used in a manner that satisfies the purpose of the program. Consistent with Council direction, the grant program could include a contractual obligation to maintain or receive the required designations to meet the City's definition of a quality child care center after a mutually agreed upon period of time; and include a provision requiring reimbursement of fees waived in the event that contract provision is not met.

APH supports eliminating development-related fees for qualifying child care centers that participate in the grant program. Eliminating these fees means reimbursement from the general fund would not be required. AFD also supports elimination of development-related fees provided the fiscal impact of unrealized monies for AFD does not exceed $25,000 per fiscal year. If a fee relates to the use of property, like a right-of-way fee, the Austin Transportation Department also supports eliminating the fee for participating child care centers.

Annual Fees

As previously noted, annual fees are assessed by APH and AFD. On January 31, 2019, Council approved an amendment to APH's Fiscal Year 2018-19 fee schedule eliminating the two fees assessed by APH for qualifying child care centers. APH estimated a fiscal impact of $21,075 in unrealized monies in Fiscal Year 2018-19.

Similar to development-related fees, AFD is in support of eliminating fees associated with annual inspections requirements for qualifying child care centers provided the fiscal impact of unrealized monies for AFD does not exceed $25,000 per fiscal year. The average combined cost for each AFD annual inspection type is $204. Using the 2018 count of existing qualifying child care centers, the estimated fiscal impact for Fiscal Year 2018-19 is approximately $12,000.

Should Council choose to proceed with eliminating annual fees for qualifying child care centers, staff recommends that this be included as a program element in the aforementioned economic development program, or that a separate program be created should Council choose to proceed with only this option to ensure that the money is used in a manner that satisfies the purpose of the program.

2.3 Impacts to the Development Services Budget

Council also requested an estimate of the potential impact of such fee waivers on the DSD budget as an enterprise fund, and the effect on other DSD customers of foregoing such revenue.

As noted above, the data available makes it difficult to accurately estimate the fiscal impact to DSD if fees waived were not reimbursed by the general fund. Based on the data collected, if the assumption is made that all the projects identified were the only projects submitted during the 2016-2018 period, and all of them are assumed to be qualifying, the fiscal impact to DSD would be a revenue deficit of approximately $154,000 over the fiscal years for which data was collected.

FY 2016	FY 2017	FY 2018	FY 2019
$6,350	$61,434	$48,193	$37,766
Combined Total: $153,743

In terms of the impact to other DSD customers, DSD's fees are set based on the cost to provide development services. Development fees could not be raised to cover the costs of fee waivers. Distribution of those costs to other fee payers is prohibited. DSD would request reimbursement from the general fund to cover any resulting funding shortages. Fee waivers not reimbursed from the general fund could result in a reduced rate of recovery for DSD, which overtime, could result in a reduction in the services DSD is able to provide.

2.4 Collaboration with Non-profits

Council directed the City Manager to explore opportunities to collaborate with nonprofit organizations in helping high quality childcare facilities meet cost-of-service fee amounts. In speaking with some of our community partners, there are few existing programs available that would meet this need directly; however, all were open to suggestions that go beyond direct funding, such as opportunities to collaborate on educational programming.

In addition, APH is working with Jon Hockenyo of TXP on a benchmarking initiative that focuses on best practices nationwide. TXP is in the process of researching what incentives other cities have provided and what public/private partnerships they have engaged in to increase the availability of affordable high quality child care.

DSD will continue to work with APH and our community partners to continue to explore these opportunities.

Section 3.0 Additional Recommendations

As an additional measure of support, DSD and several of our partner departments worked together to develop alternatives to supplement these recommendations.

For qualifying child care center projects that require a site plan, DSD and our partner departments will scale site plan review turnaround times to those that are available to SMART Housing and Austin Independent School District projects. Reviews times are reduced from 21 business days to 14 business days for initial review, and from 10 business days to seven business days for subsequent reviews.

For qualifying child care center projects that do not require a site plan, DSD will assign a case manager as well as a designated review team to shepherd projects through building plan review. Building plan review turnaround times are already abbreviated (seven business days for most projects that would fall in this category). Based on feedback received from a stakeholder that recently navigated the process, having a case manager available to provide guidance throughout the process ranked highest in terms of critical resources. This responsibility will be transitioned to DSD's Small Business Ombudsperson once the team is on-boarded and fully functional.

Project eligibility would be established through use of the grant program.

The Economic Development Department's Small Business Program has also offered to partner with DSD on an education series focusing on child care centers, the details of which will be developed once direction on this initiative is finalized. The education series will include information regarding City financing options, such as the Family Business Loan Program, as well as other alternative financing options.

Section 4.0 Next Steps

Staff will need further Council direction in order to proceed with land development code amendments, fee waivers and/ or the creation of a grant program. Staff is available to respond to any questions you may have or to assist with any follow-up direction Council would like to provide.
